Wow, I can't believe that December is already here! As we get ready to celebrate Christmas and the New Year, it's a good time to reflect on the year and to count our blessings. I love to sit around at the end of the year with family and friends and think about all of the good times and laughter we have had over the year. Laughter is good for the soul.

As I reflect on what our amazing chapter has done, we have made and IMPACT. We have donated food to a food pantry. We have given away scholarships that will create a life-long impact for the teens and adults that have received them. We have traveled for fellowship with other chapters. We have created goodies for families that won't be home for the holidays, but instead are having to navigate health issues for their children. We have heard the stories from healthcare professionals on how to overcome health challenges for aging family and those that need ongoing medical care.

We have started new jobs. We have dealt with family challenges. We have had new marriages. We have celebrated our health and how to take care of ourselves. We have read to school children and brightened their day with the gift of books. We got to meet Miss Opal Lee. We have had grandbabies. We have grown our chapter.

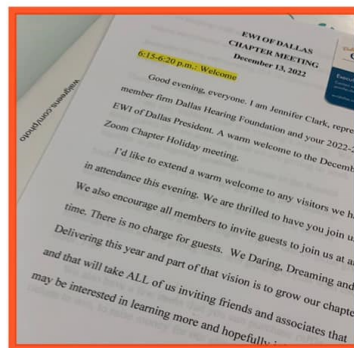

We have done all of these things together. We have listened, we have cried, we have laughed, we have grown as individuals. I cannot wait to see what the new year brings. I pray that you have a wonderful holiday with friends and family and are looking forward to the excitement that 2023 will bring!

With Love,
Jennifer

'Twas a wonderful night at the Cue!!

What a fun night for the EWI Dallas Chapter! A delicious hot cocoa bar with adult libations along with putting together goodie bags and blankets for the Ronald McDonald house of Dallas. We love sharing the mission of EWI and we were delighted to have several guests that we hope will become members. Add in Babe's for dinner and the night was awesome!

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MARY FRANCES BURLESON

It is with great sadness that we inform you of the passing of Mary Frances Burleson earlier this morning, longtime president and CEO of the Ebby Halliday Companies. She was 87 and passed of natural causes.

Mary Frances McClure was born on April 16, 1935. When she was a child, she moved with her parents to Highland Park, where she attended school and then graduated from Highland Park High School and Southern Methodist University. Later in life, Mary Frances would frequently remark that the sacrifices her parents made to send her to great schools and expose her to exceptional teachers was one of the greatest gifts she had ever received.

It was in 1958 that one small turn of events would set her on the path for the rest of her life. While attending SMU, Mary Frances worked for Jobs Unlimited, a temporary employment company. She was sent to Ebby Halliday REALTORS® as a part-time secretary and receptionist. Inspired by what she saw — sales associates who were enjoying and thriving in their careers — Mary Frances was eager to join the company permanently.

“My husband Rufus said that I had looked over the garden wall when I started working for Ebby Halliday and that I was never the same again,” she recalled. “Ebby mentored and helped many, many people to find their career path, and I was one of the fortunate ones.” Mary Frances’ talent was quickly recognized, and Ebby herself offered to make her position at the company permanent after just two weeks – at $2.50 per hour. She quickly rose through the ranks to management positions. She opened the fourth office for Ebby Halliday Realtors in Richardson and served as Regional Manager of four additional offices. In 1979, she became Executive Vice President and General Sales Manager. In 1989, she was named President and in 2000 added the title of Chief Executive Officer.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MARY FRANCES BURLESON

Mary Frances and Ebby would work side by side for 57 years, during which time they also became close personal friends. When once asked for her best business advice, her answer was quick: "Find a good mentor, but don't forget to return the favor." For nearly three decades, Mary Frances was at the helm of the Ebby Halliday Companies as President and CEO.

She helped to expand the firm to 1,700 agents in 35 offices across three brands, becoming the largest independent residential real estate brokerage in Texas, and the 10th-largest in the nation. Mary Frances quickly and always described herself as "an Ebby girl through and through" and continuing the legacy of the company's admired founder became her life's mission. But she also forged a unique leadership path of her own – one that was best summed up with her popular mantra, "Get up, suit up and show up." She both preached and personified this mantra over her 60+ years with Ebby Halliday. She helped steer the company through the good times as well as through downturns and recessions, through key acquisitions and new market expansions, investing in and adopting the latest technology, hiring the best people – and training and promoting them to leadership positions, and more. Through her and her team's vision, the Ebby Halliday Companies was one of the first to explore and create the core services business lines of mortgage, insurance and title to both support the company, and, more importantly, provide the most seamless and complete real estate experience to clients – something most other companies are just starting to explore.

Mary Frances also led the company through the passing of founder Ebby Halliday Acers at the age of 104 in 2015 and played a pivotal role in the acquisition of the Ebby Halliday Companies by HomeServices of America in 2018. As one would expect, she was fiercely protective of the Ebby Halliday name and culture, turning down numerous offers from other entities to sell because she didn't believe it was a good fit for the company or its people.

Just like her mentor Ebby Halliday, Mary Frances firmly believed that she never did anything alone. She was always quick to credit the team when accepting praise or awards – by her definition that team included the leadership and management teams around her, as well as every Sales Associate and staff member who comprised the Ebby Halliday Companies. In her free time – and something she became known for – she would personally call each Sales Associate and staff member on their birthday and sing the entirety of the "Happy Birthday" song – whether she was out of town, or their birthday fell on a holiday, she made her calls. It started innocently in the early 1990s and quickly became expected. She would continue this tradition with all 2,000+ members of the company until her retirement in 2020, eventually incorporating texts instead of calls to stay current with the times. But each one was hand-typed. She was also a voracious reader of business books, and frequently gave her staff and others copies of her favorites.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MARY FRANCES BURLESON

As one would expect, Mary Frances' leadership and involvement resulted in innumerable awards and accolades. Some highlights include: REALTOR® of the Year by the MetroTex Association of REALTORS® and the Texas Association of REALTORS®, induction into the RPAC Hall of Fame at the highest level (and at the time, a level created especially for her), regular appearances on the Swanepoel Power 200 "Top 20 Women Leaders in Residential Real Estate" list, RISMedia's National Homeownership Award, the Dallas Business Journal's Women in Business Award, Dallas Business Journal's Most Admired CEOs honoree, D CEO's Residential Real Estate Executive of the Year award, and Highland Park Independent School District's Distinguished Alumni Award. Perhaps one of Mary Frances' most-prized awards came in 2013 when she was honored with the National Association of REALTORS® Distinguished Service Award, the organization's highest honor, and the highest honor a REALTOR® can receive. She was selected as one of two winners that year from 1 million REALTORS® based on her contributions to the real estate industry and being among those recognized as leaders in their local communities. Her proudest part of the award however was that she was the third REALTOR® from the Ebby Halliday Companies (along with Ebby Halliday and Posey Willis) to receive the coveted award, a first for the industry.

"I am honored and grateful to accept the Distinguished Service Award," Burleson said in a press release. "I am also extremely fortunate to be part of a profession and organization that values service to others. REALTORS® have a common goal to help build strong communities and work toward improving people's quality of life; this is something I strongly believe in and have strived for throughout my career in real estate."

When asked to describe a moment in her life that shaped her future, her answer obviously included meeting Ebby Halliday in 1958, but on a personal level, it was marrying the love of her life in 1955, Rufus C. Burleson. The two were true soulmates and were married for over 50 years until his sudden death in 2009. Mary Frances and Rufus started exhibiting show dogs – Boxers – in 1964, something she became even more passionate about after Rufus' passing. It became important to her to continue his legacy in the dog world, and true to form, Mary Frances delivered.

To date, Marburl Boxers (the name of the kennel the Burlesons owned and managed – a combination of "Mary" and "Burleson") have completed championships for more than 100 dogs and won countless other awards both nationally and internationally, including a Lifetime Achievement Award for Mary Frances and Rufus from the American Boxer Club. And expect more Marburl champions to come – Mary Frances would always comment (with her signature grin) how she was "dreaming and scheming" with her handler and friend Lori Ferguson for more awards.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MARY FRANCES BURLESON

She also regularly updated a running list of future dog names for her prized bloodline – stored in her iPhone, of course. In a 2016 interview with D Magazine, Mary Frances reflected on the downside of her dog hobby, which she also related to life: “Dogs give you a great deal of joy and a great deal of heartache. When you lose a dog, you cry buckets. Humans don’t live forever either, but while we have each other, we have joy ... I wouldn’t trade anything in the world for the experiences I have had.”

In addition to being a courageous, bold leader who embraced the principles of honor and integrity, Mary Frances was a woman of remarkable faith. A longtime member of Park Cities Baptist Church, Mary Frances especially enjoyed the fellowship she experienced, and the friends she made over the years in her congregation and in her Sunday School class. Mary Frances Burleson was an extraordinary woman who dedicated her life to service on every level. That dedication touched the lives of thousands of people across the North Texas community, the nation and beyond. We at the Ebby Halliday Companies are forever grateful for her vision, for her leadership, and for her friendship. She is and will be greatly missed.

We will share with you more details regarding her selected charitable causes as we learn more in the coming days.

Mary Frances Burleson (at right in photo) joined Ebby as a part-time secretary in 1958 and went on to become its president and CEO.

How To Set Your 2023 Goals

Every goal requires focus for success to occur. If you are distracted and aren't sure how to achieve your goal, check out today's inspiring message from John Maxwell.

In his book Focus: The Future of Your Company Depends on It, marketing consultant Al Ries gives a tremendous illustration:

The sun is a powerful source of energy. Every hour the sun washes the earth with billions of kilowatts of energy. Yet with a hat and some sunscreen, you can bathe in the light of the sun for hours at a time with few ill effects.

A laser is a weak source of energy. A laser takes a few watts of energy and focuses them in a coherent stream of light. But with a laser you can drill a hole in a diamond.

Focus can bring energy and power to almost anything, whether it's physical or mental. If you're learning how to pitch a baseball and you want to develop a good curveball, then focused thinking while practicing will improve your technique. If you need to refine the manufacturing process of your product, focused thinking will help you develop the best method. If you want to solve a difficult mathematics problem, sustaining focused thinking helps you break through to the solution. That's why philosopher Bertrand Russell asserted, "To be able to concentrate for a considerable time is essential to difficult achievement." The greater the difficulty of a problem or issue, the more focused thinking time will be necessary to solve it. Does every area of your life deserve dedicated, focused thinking time? Of course, the answer is no.

How To Set Your 2023 Goals

Be selective, not exhaustive, in your focused thinking. And once you have a handle on what you should think about, you must decide how to better focus on it. Here are five suggestions to help you with the process:

1. Remove Distractions. I've found that I need blocks of time to think without interruption. So when necessary, I make myself unavailable and go off to my "thinking place." As a leader, however, I am aware that I need to remain accessible to others and to withdraw from them to think. But since one lets us connect with people and know their needs, and the other lets us think of ways to add value to them, we need to value and give attention to both.

2. Make Time for Focused Thinking. Once you have a place to think, you need the time to think. Years ago I realized that my best thinking time occurs in the morning. So whenever possible, I reserve my mornings for thinking and writing. One way to gain time for focused thinking is to impose upon yourself a rule that one company implemented. Don't allow yourself to look at e-mail until after 10 a.m. Instead, focus your energies on your number one priority. Put non-productive time wasters on hold so that you can create thinking time for yourself.

3. Keep Items of Focus Before You. Ralph Waldo Emerson, the great transcendental thinker, believed, "Concentration is the secret of strength in politics, in war, in trade, in short in all management of human affairs." To benefit from that concentration, keep important items in front of you. Ask a colleague or assistant to keep bringing them up. Or keep a file or a page where you see it every day as you work. That strategy has successfully helped me for thirty years to stimulate and sharpen ideas.

4. Set Goals. I believe goals are important. The mind will not focus until it has clear objectives. But the purpose of goals is to focus your attention and give you direction, not to identify a final destination. As you think about your goals, note that they should be

- Clear enough to be kept in focus
- Close enough to be achieved
- Helpful enough to change lives

Be sure to write down your goals. And if you really want to make sure they're focused, take the advice of David Belasco, who says, "If you can't write your idea on the back of my business card, you don't have a clear idea."

5. Question Your Progress Ask yourself, "Am I seeing a return for my investment of focused thinking time? Is what I am doing getting me closer to my goals? Am I headed in a direction that helps me to fulfill my commitments, maintain my priorities, and realize my dreams?"

Mission

Executive Women International (EWI) brings together key individuals from diverse businesses for the purpose of promoting member firms, enhancing personal and professional development, and encouraging community involvement.

Vision

To enhance professional growth and development within a diverse group of women while empowering them to make a difference as they inspire others.

Values

Integrity | Excellence | Respect | Collaboration

ewi How Member Firms Benefit from EWI: RESULTS

R RELATIONSHIPS
EWI is an organization that believes in long-term, highly valuable relationships. Member representatives build lasting, sustainable, and ultimately valuable business connections through trust and respect. Your employees form relationships that create associations between your organization and a diversity of other prestigious firms and executives in your city.

E EDUCATION
EWI offers professional development webinars and other resources each year on topics relevant to a member representative's professional and personal growth. Your investment provides affordable access to professionally produced training that would be difficult for many businesses to provide to their employees. To further your investment, member representatives are encouraged and expected to share their learning with other employees.

S SKILLS
EWI member representatives practice strong business ethics and build core skills such as public speaking, effective leadership, mentoring, strategic planning, and even how to effectively and efficiently run meetings with Robert's Rules of Order. There are additional opportunities for growth in EWI through Chapter and Corporate Board service such as preparing and managing a budget, managing a team, conflict resolution, and event planning.

U UNTAPPED POTENTIAL
Participation in EWI quickly raises your firm's visibility among your city's business community. This affords you the ability to promote your products and services to audiences you may not reach otherwise, both locally and throughout EWI's North American network. Your firm will also have the ability to build contacts by hosting Chapter Firm Nights or attending other Firm Nights and various business meetings throughout the year.

L LEADERSHIP
Many EWI member representatives cite leadership opportunities as a driving motivator for their participation. EWI offers a number of ways to build real-world leadership skills through Chapter leadership, Corporate Board participation, our Academy of Leadership program and other initiatives. Additionally, your membership positions your firm and your member representatives as leaders within your business community.

T TANGIBLE RETURNS
The EWI network is motivated to see your member representatives and your firm succeed. Representatives look to one another first when they need a specific product or service. Your firm will be listed in the EWI International Directory, which constitutes a network across the United States and Canada for the exchange of information and business matters. Member Representatives have immediate access to our online community to connect your firm with additional resources by delivering real time accessibility to all members through the EWI Mobile App.

S SUPPORT
Your member representatives will have a support structure of like-minded individuals outside of the office for career advice and other needs. EWI membership also provides you with an opportunity to support and recognize a top-ranking person within your firm by appointing her/him to represent your organization. Lastly, EWI offers your firm a number of ways to support your local community through good works, scholarship programs, and other philanthropic initiatives.
